

What technology does your child use at home? Do they access games on your phone? Can they use the TV remote control. Can they play games on your console? Do they have remote control toys?

You could take photographs of them doing any of these tasks and/or a list of all of the things they can do independently.

Who will be the most technologically talented?

